THE EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS—VIEWS OF SENATOR—ON THEIR RELATIONS TO THEM—WHAT THE PRESIDENT THINKS ON THE SUBJECT.

(N. Y. Herald, Jan. 27th.)

The Louisiana and Maine nominations have brought up again, in private conversation among Senators and others, the question of the relation of the Senate to executive nominations, which in part Senator Edmunds' letter to the President discussed. The statement which follows, made as will be seen with some care, comes from Republican sources and is believed to represent the opinions held on this subject by a considerable majority of Republican Senators:

By accident or design a delusion seems to have been imposed upon the public, strangely transparent when examined, in regard to the position held by the Senate touching its function respecting appointments. It is repeatedly asserted that the Senate contends for the right to suggest or influence or dictate to the President in advance whom he shall nominate for office. The ground held by the Senate is not only different but opposite. The President has the independent right to nominate to the Senate any eligible person, and the Senate has an equally independent right—nay, binding duty—to advise whether the nominations should or should not be confirmed. A confirmation is an act separate and substantive as much as is a nomination. Each is committed to the judgment of the respective parties who perform the act. Each act has its own responsibility. The act of nominating is reposed by the constitution in the President, the act of advising to confirm or reject is reposed exclusively in the Senate. The same clause of the constitution which empowers the President to do the one thing enjoins the Senate, on its conscience and judgment, to do the other. Both acts are committed to the judgment and discretion of those who are to do them. When an office is vacant, assuming that it ought to be filled, which is not always the case by any means, for oftentimes offices exist by law which there is no need to have occupied at a particular time; but when an office is vacant which should be filled and a nomination is sent to the Senate the sole duty of the Senate is to advise as to the fitness and expediency of appointing the particular person nominated. When, however, an office is already filled and a nomination is made of another person to displace the incumbent the duty of the Senate is to advise whether the change should be made. The advice and consent of the Senate in such a case is two-fold in character and effect. If it advises affirmatively the advice is that A. B. should be removed and C. D. put in his place. C. D. may be a good man and good even for the particular place; but A. B. is already in, has been tried, has acquired practice and experience, and if the Senate believes that to displace with his services and substitute one untried in his stead would be unwise, inexpedient, injurious to the public service, or even an experiment which could not improve the efficiency of administration, and may injure it; in such a case Senators on their oaths, obligated to give honest and discreet advice, cannot evade their duty by shutting their eyes to the question of expelling the man who is in. To do so would be simply to falter and shirk a plain constitutional duty.

It may be added that some Republican and more Democratic Senators hold that the President, being responsible to the country for the execution of the laws and the administration of public business, the Senate ought to compel him to retain in service an officer whom for any cause, public or private, he wishes to remove, and that its duty is done when it sets in judgment on his nominations, examining and passing upon their character and fitness, and rejecting only such as are shown to be incapable or otherwise unfit.

A third opinion is also held that the President ought, when proposing to remove an officer, to give the Senate full and to it satisfactory reasons for his removal, and that unless he can satisfy the Senate with his reasons that body, in the interest of the public service, ought to refuse its consent to the removal. Those who so hold urge that a strict observance of such a course by the President and the Senate would, in fact, greatly help to that permanence of tenure which the President desires to bring about in the civil service.

The President is understood to hold that he ought to be allowed a large liberty about removals from office, inasmuch as he is responsible for the conduct of public business, and that he may be justified in removing an officer by the fact that while the incumbent does well in some respects the person he would substitute would be a better man in all the relations of the place. He holds also that a federal officer ought not only to be capable of performing the duties of the place he holds, but should also be satisfactory to the community in which he is to hold office, and that a man entirely capable otherwise would be an improper nomination if by reason of his relations to the community he were generally disliked.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS

OF THE GREAT LUNG AND THROAT REMEDY.

DR. EBEL'S

BALSAM AND COUGH MEDICINE

Declared to surpass everything hitherto introduced for the Swift and Speedy Cure of all Lung and Throat complaints.

The sale of this famous remedy, for the cure of all Colds or Coughs peculiar to this mountain climate, has increased so marvelously since its recent introduction, that the proprietor fearlessly challenges comparison with any medicine of the kind in the world.

This wonderful remedy is especially adapted for all Lung and Throat Complaints peculiar to miners, or any persons liable to exposure from colds drafts in tunnels working in bad air underground, or the absorption of powder smoke into the lungs. Three doses a day will keep the lungs clear, and enable the miner to work in the midst of powder smoke without coughing.

It is not claimed for this Balsam, like most patent medicines, that it will cure all diseases, but it is guaranteed to cure all diseases of the lungs. One bottle of the Balsam will, in nearly all cases, cure a bad cold or cough of from one to two months' duration; two bottles, a cold or cough of from two to four months' standing; and three bottles any similar affection that has been in existence for several years.

Notice: This! The public is called upon to observe that Dr. Ebel will in all cases refund the money to purchasers of the Balsam on the returning the bottles to him, if not cured within a reasonable length of time.

To be used of all Drug Stores and all Merchants' stores in mining camps.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

Butler has prepared a resolution declaring that the House has lost confidence in the administration of the Treasury Department. This resolution is to be presented after the passage by the House of the amended Blank bill, as it is returned from the Senate.

Robert L. Case, the convicted and sentenced President of the Security Life Insurance and Annuity Company, New York, has been admitted to $25,000 bail.

Senator Dennis desires it to be known that he will vote for the Bland bill. This would make the vote stand 50 to 23, and it is asserted now that Patterson will be present and vote for the bill, and Kellogg will also. Patterson, if absent, will be paired with Butler.

The war situation remains unchanged. Russia and England are talking the matter over. The English fleet is still unboarded from. Roumania is calling out all her able bodied men, and Austria will mobilize her armies.

Gov. Nichols disclaims all sympathy with the movement against the Returning Board, but admitting that he is powerless to interfere to prevent those who have control of the matter from carrying out their purposes.

The Cabinet had a stormy session yesterday regarding the President's letter to the Attorney-General. There was much bitter talk and partisan spirit. Sherman, McCrary and Thompson insisted on the letter being made much stronger, and were willing to go any length to balk the Returning Board's persecutors. The President held out stoutly for the while, but will probably reconsider his letter. Mr. Key mildly insisted that the matter was as a whole State affair.

In the House yesterday Hewitt was denounced as a traitor to Tilden. He denied the charge.

The President talks freely about the trials at New Orleans, and in terms of great severity.

A case of leprosy is reported in San Francisco.

The Grand Lodge K. of P. is in session in San Francisco.

Ben. Wade is improving.

Mexico is threatened with another revolution.

The meeting in Washington of the National Democratic Committee has been postponed from the 22d of February to the 22d of May.

Senator Sargent spoke yesterday afternoon in opposition to the silver bill. He claims that its passage will be fatal to the interests of both capital and labor.

A dispatch from Rome denies that the Cardinals have rejected the idea of reconciliation with Italy, and says the decision of such questions appertains solely to the Pope.

The Pacific Railroads are fighting each other.

A prominent Republican, who is a member of the National Republican Committee, says he is informed privately that the Administration is trying to force the Louisiana authorities to give Anderson a new trial.

James Blair, who recently shot and killed Jack Braslan in a drunken quarrel at Bodie, Cal., died at that place on Monday morning from the effects of wounds received in the fight.

Advices from Siam say the King of Siam will send a diplomatic representative to the United States next year.

The steamer Newbern, from Guaymas, has arrived in San Francisco, bringing the crew of the whaling bark Roman of New Bedford, wrecked on the coast of Lower California. No lives lost.

Sargent has been notified by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations that J. P. G. Kennedy, the Washington representative of the Chinese Six Companies, will be heard by them in argument next Tuesday, and they therefore invited Sargent to be present.

The strike of the miners of Northumberland, England, has ended. The men have accepted the reduction of twelve and a half per cent. in their wages.

Hon. Wm. Upham, manufacturer of woollen goods at Spencer, Mass., has failed. His liabilities are estimated at $150,000.

THE CHINESE MUST GO.

Such is the prevailing sentiment on this coast, and we are glad to learn from Congressman Wren, by private letter, that the Chinese question is fast taking definite shape amongst members of Congress. The feeling is decided, he writes, that immigration from China shall be restricted within the narrowest possible limits, without interfering with our commercial intercourse with China. It is with more than ordinary feelings of satisfaction that we learn that our Eastern folks are beginning to understand the true state of affairs, and are preparing to apply a remedy. For years the people of this coast have been claiming that the presence of the Chinese on this coast is a cause of great evil and of impending danger, which demands earnest consideration. The well-known habits and mode of life of the Chinese need only be mentioned to be admitted. They have no wish nor do they intend to become, with us, a homogeneous people. They look forward solely to the acquisition of a competence and a return to China. They live upon a few cents' worth of rice per day, usually imported by their own merchants. They swarm together in large numbers in small rooms, thus saving rent, and at the same time engendering loathsome diseases. They have no families to support; but, on the contrary, the lewd women owned and kept by them are a source of profit. They are natural thieves, and property is unsafe everywhere from their wily and ingenious machinations. They are persistent liars, whom no court of justice nor any resource known to our jurisprudence can control. Their natures and training enable them to live cheaper than it is possible for white men with families to do. They usurp and monopolize every department of labor in our country, whether suited to male or female, and they can and do fill every department of labor at lower rates of wages than white men or women can live upon, and are therefore employed by capitalists and manufacturers. As a consequence of this condition of things, thousands of laboring men and women in the East who would gladly seek homes here are deterred from coming to us; and the honest laborers have been driven away, from their inability to support their families upon Chinese wages. There is another evil arising from the residence of the Chinese among us, not so patent to casual observers, but of such magnitude as to cause a feeling of despondency for the future of our country. In every town of any magnitude there are dens of Chinese prostitution open to the youths of our land—to very young boys, who are enticed thither by Chinese women, and who, for a few cents, can acquire a loathsome disease, ruin their constitutions, and render themselves unfit to become the progenitors of a healthy and moral race. Trouble with the Chinese has already begun, and it is not incorrect to say that, however wrong the course adopted may be, the people, urged to desperation by a want of sympathy in and a disregard for their interests by the Government, believe that something must be done to protect and save their families from present and future desecration; and this belief, this desire to do something, is increasing at a rapid rate, and must inevitably bring about further collisions between the two races. To redress these grievances, to avert the danger which is surely impending, and to provide a happy and prosperous future for your suffering brethren is not only a mark of wisdom and good policy, but is an imperative duty required at the hands of those intrusted with the legislation and the administration of public affairs. We therefore petition that the Burlingame treaty be abrogated, or so modified as to prevent the influx of Chinese to these shores, and for such other and necessary legislation as may be deemed requisite to relieve us of the blighting and deadly incubus now pressing upon us.

The National Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, with Major McDowell of Kentucky presiding, held a protracted and stormy meeting in New York yesterday. It was resolved to join forces with the National Trotting Association. The discussion on the resolution was acrimonious, but it was carried by a vote of 33 to 30. A committee composed of Thorne, Morgan and Mali, and Colonels West and Russell, conferred with Colonel Woolley, President of the Trotting Association, who expressed great pleasure at the action taken. An evening session was held and the report adopted.

ARCHBISHOP ALEMANY'S CIRCULAR LETTER UPON THE DEATH OF THE POPE.

On Saturday, in the Catholic churches of the Diocese of San Francisco, the following circular letter upon the death of the Pope was read:

Rev. Dear Sir: It is with pain, no doubt, that you read the detailed accounts of the death of the Holy Father; and it is my sad duty to communicate to you that the melancholy news has been officially confirmed. The glorious Pontiff Pius IX. is no more with us on earth, but he is, no doubt, with God and His Immaculate Mother in Heaven. He loved the Church dearly and holily to the last; his moral conduct was not only irreproachable, but most edifying; under adversity he was tranquil, under persecution he was meek; in the discharge of his high office he was the ever-watchful and zealous shepherd—gentle, amiable and charitable to all, yet the uncompromising defender of truth and of the cause of God, admired alike by friends and foes.

It is not advancing too much to say that the universal sentiment of the Catholic world will place him beyond the need of our prayers; but the Church requires of our charity to offer up to God suffrages for the dead, whether they belonged to the lay or to the clerical body; whether they were Priests, Bishops or High Pontiffs. The sanctity of God's heavenly palace is such as not to admit any one guilty even of a single idle word, without having accounted for it or without its being atoned for either by the temporary punishment demanded by the Divine Justice or by the suffrages of the living members of the mystical body of Christ; and when such suffrages are not needed by him for whom they are offered, the infinite mercy of God applies them to the benefit of other departed souls.

Please, therefore, while announcing the sad news of the death of our common Father, to request the faithful under your charge to offer up to God humble prayers and holy communions, not only for his comfort, should he need any, but also for the happy and holy choice of an Apostolic successor worthy the lamented Pius IX.; and also to state to them that on next Tuesday, at 9:30 A. M., a Requiem Pontifical Mass will be celebrated at the Cathedral for the late Sovereign Pontiff, to which all that can attend, especially the clergy, are cordially invited.

Your devoted servant,
JOSEPH S. ALEMANY,
Archbishop of San Francisco.
San Francisco, Feb'y 8, 1878.

EUREKA ITEMS.—Developments in the twelfth level of the Eureka Consolidated prove the existence of an immense ore body at that point and insure dividends for an indefinite period.

The Richmond Consolidated will pay a quarterly dividend of three dollars.

Jones has been at work on his silver speech for several days. It is now finished and in the hands of the printer. He will deliver it on Thursday, and will devote a portion of it to a personal explanation, denying that he is in any way interested, in a personal sense, in the passage of the Silver bill. He says that he does not own a dollar in the bonanza mines, and that the mines in which he is interested produce more gold than silver.

Now that Romualdo Pacheco has been left out in the cold and Wiggington huffed to the Congressional bosom, the San Jose Mercury flies this at the head of its editorial column: For Congressman of the Fourth District of California in 1879, Romualdo Pacheco, a man swindled out of his seat by a Democratic House of Representatives.

The amount of Brazilian subsidy proposed by the Postal Committee is $150,000 annually. Shipbuilder Roach in committee confessed that he will run lines of steamers between the points desired whether a subsidy is granted or not. He has a contract with the Emperor of Brazil to start them and will do so, but without a subsidy he says he will not carry the United States mails.

Good NOMINATION.—The Post nominates Capt. C. C. Warner for State Senator from Elko county. The reasons urged in his favor are that he is reliable, honest, competent, well known throughout the State and would have much influence in the Senate. Correct.

THE Oroville Mercury names Geo. C. Perkins as "California's next Governor." There is no better man in the State, and he can lead the Republican hosts to victory. He would make a Governor of which that great State would be justly proud.

THE FOLLOWING WELL-WRITTEN LETTER APPEARS IN THE ENTERPRISE OF THURSDAY.

Though at fault in two or three instances the correspondent has a very correct idea of things generally. The letter will well pay perusal.

RENO, FEBRUARY 11, 1878.

Editor Enterprise:—"We still live" in the "cradle of reform," but having said this we nearly exhaust the subject, for our town is now seeing its dullest times.

MONEY IS SO SCARCE That the most substantial business houses we boast of find it difficult to make collections enough to pay expenses. The absence of manufacturing to bring in foreign capital is painfully felt in this particular, and now that the prospects of work being done at the Mackay-Fair wood camps this coming Summer are very slight, the dull times show no signs of ending very soon. Speaking of the Mackay-Fair camps warrants me to say that the work there accomplished and the money circulated did much for us last year. In fact, our merchants say that about all of the circulating coin we had came from there. We lament that this is to be stopped.

THE MEAT-SHIPPING ASSOCIATION Is now steadily at work, shipping about a carload of dressed meats to San Francisco daily, where it finds a ready market at paying prices. The succulence of the meat makes it so much better than that hitherto served at the Bay City, that it sells readily to all who appreciate the good and toothsome. Miller & Lux, the "cattle kings" of California, are striving to cripple the Meat-Shipping Association by buying up all the cattle in this section, and train-loads pass westward daily, while their agents are traveling the country through clear to the Oregon line, purchasing all the beaver they can get. But how they will fail in that little "corner" movement—for the owners of the Meat-Shipping Association are all cattle men and raise enough animals for their own business, and can therefore let the cattle kings have all the rest if they desire them. The increasing business of the Meat-Shipping Association shows how well they are succeeding. That

GRAND JURY REPORT Is still the absorbing topic, to the exclusion of stocks, civil service reform or even the approaching State election. While the Grand Jury meant well enough they evidently over-reached themselves, and in branding, by imputation, all of our county officials as knaves, they have done what any one at all acquainted with our corps of officers knows is not warranted or just. It is intimated that it is a political move, and when we reflect that seven of the members of that jury were defeated candidates at the last county election, and were reporting on their successful opponents, the intimation seems tolerably well founded. Our local press are arguing the matter—the Gazette upholding the jury and the Journal condemning it. The editor of the Gazette was a member of the jury, and one of the committee appointed to examine the county officers' books. At best it is but an unfortunate affair and calculated to blot the characters of many of our best citizens.

POLITICS.

Our local politicians are beginning to move, and this and that candidate is being spoken of, his chances discussed and "how he will take," fully inquired into. J. C. Hagerman is quietly feeling for the gubernatorial chair. J. C. is smooth—he will not do a great deal in the way of open maneuvering, but when it comes down to laying wires and springing traps, just count him in with a "fall hand and a pistol." We feel a kind of county pride in this matter, but still prefer Bateman or Hobart to our Washoe county man. The Virginia correspondent of the JOURNAL says that the Republicans will give our county the candidate for Lieutenant Governor. As the name of C. O. Powning is the only one mentioned in connection with the office I suppose it was intended for him. Mr. P. is not making any fight for the nomination, but seems to be, like "Old Broadthorns," in the "hands of his friends." Local politics have not attracted much attention as yet, the State ticket being the most important, absorbing the politicians so completely that county matters are a playing second fiddle; but I hear C. S. Varian spoken of as a probable successor to W. L. Ross to the Senate. Charley wants the position bad enough, but will not get the nomination unless he "shows up better" between this and next Fall.

THE ROVER EXECUTION.

Which is to take place to-morrow week, unless the Board of Pardons, in session to day in Carson, commutes the sentence to life imprisonment, is creating considerable feeling, many desiring to have the sentence commuted, while others earnestly insist that he be executed, arguing that if guilty he ought to swing higher than Haman, but if innocent, to go free. The petition circulated here to ask for the commutation received about 150 signatures. Rover himself is hopeful, and persists in his innocence and McWorthy's guilt. The majority of those who signed the petition did so on the ground of his insanity, of which there is a very reasonable certainty. The

POWNING-THOMPSON LIBEL SUIT

Comes up in the District Court on Wednesday, Boardman & Varian and R. M. Clark for Thompson, and Judge Lewis of your city and District Attorney Cain of this county for Powning. All hope that Powning will get away with the case, as published the Carson letter containing the alleged libel without thinking any harm of the offending paragraph. Ten thousand dollars is a considerable sum of money, and if Mr. Powning loses it I fear he will be broken up in business.

THE ADVANTAGES OF MODOC COUNTY.

In view of the fact that parties in the southern counties of this State have been making inquiries about this portion of the State, we have concluded to state what we have repeatedly said heretofore in regard to the advantages which this county offers to persons seeking homes. We believe that Modoc county offers greater inducements to persons wishing to engage in farming, dairying or stock-raising than any other county in the State. Our valleys consist of the finest soil and are well watered, though in ordinary seasons but little, if any irrigation is required. Wheat and barley do well, yielding from twenty-five to forty bushels per acre. Vegetables of all kinds are grown to perfection, while fruit-growing, wherever tried, has proved a success. Our hills are covered with the richest of grasses, affording pasturage for thousands of horses, cattle and sheep, which live and thrive on them the year round. We can safely say that we have the finest range for stock in the State. Our Winters are mild, snow rarely covering the feed for more than a day or two at one time. Hay can be cut in any desired quantity from the rich bottom lands, but it is rarely used except for feeding stock intended for market. There is an abundance of good land yet lying vacant, and partially improved farms can be purchased very cheap. The mountains are covered with the finest of timber, thus affording means for building and improving farms. The climate of Modoc is mild and healthful. We have good schools throughout the county. Good wagon roads lead into the county from Reno on the C. P. R. and from Redding on the California and Oregon road. As yet farming is not carried on to any great extent, but plenty is raised to supply home consumption. As a wool, beef and dairy country Modoc already ranks high. We would advise all who are looking for a place to engage in those pursuits to pay Modoc a visit and see for themselves. —Modoc Independent.

The question of where the State Convention shall be held this year is being discussed by the press. The Reno Journal favors Eureka as the place for the Republican Convention, and the Sentinel, in commenting on the subject says: "The Great East has been going to the West quite long enough. The expense of attending a State Convention is not inconsiderable. This burden has been borne uncomplainingly by members of the respective parties in the eastern part of the State for years," and "it is simply the fair thing for the West to assume a portion of these burdens." The JOURNAL says: "We think Eureka is justly entitled to it. Elko, Reno, Winnemucca and Carson have had it, in turn, and it would not be fair to show either of those places partiality as against Eureka." We agree with both of our cotemporaries. Whether Eureka can provide comfortably for the delegations we do not know, but have no doubt the people of that lively town would make all necessary arrangements if they were assured that the Conventions would be held there. —Elko Post.

The Reno Journal of Sunday contains four letters of correspondence, one from Eureka, one from Virginia, one from Winnemucca and one from Carson, all of which are principally devoted to Nevada politics. Aggregated the number of candidates mentioned by the four letters, and there cannot be less than a couple of hundred candidates for State offices in this State. If all the men mentioned by the Winnemucca man are candidates there will not be left a non-office seeker in Humboldt county by the time the county and township tickets are about ready for nomination. —Austin Kenville.

During 1877 there were carried over the railroad to Walla Walla over 8,000 tons of freight, 3,500 tons being plows, seeders, reapers, threshers, wagons and other agricultural implements. In addition to this great amount, there were several thousand tons of like freight carried up the Snake river and landed at various points for distribution in the Palouse country.
